DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to the amendment mailed August 6, 2007.
Claims 1, 11, 20, 29 and 36 were amended, claims 2, 5, 7, 8, 12-13, 21, 24, 26-27 and 30-31 were cancelled and claims 38-49 were added rendering claims 1, 3-4, 6, 9-11, 14-20, 22-23, 25, 28-29 and 32-49 pending.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 102(b)

3. Claims 1, 3-4, 9-11, 15-20, 22-23, 28-29, 33-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Phillips (U.S. 5,772,248).

Phillips discloses a copy resistant security sheet (column 1, lines 8-12 and column 2, lines 34-39) comprising a substrate (11) made of paper, an overlay marker (reflective layer) (10) made of metallic reflective material and a diffusing projected marking (diffusing layer) (16) (column 3, lines 10-36 and column 4, lines 30-35 and Figures 1 and 5). The reflective layer has a reflectance of at least eighty percent (column 3, lines 45-50 and Figure 2). Figure 5 shows the reflective layer is non-black and the reflective elements have a rectilinear structure (column 5, lines 4-25). The image relief structure is a series of alpha-numeric characters to provide informational content to the contrasting visible image, where the latent image is hidden when an observer views the sheet at a certain angle (column 2, lines 50-53 and column 3, lines 45-50). Phillips discloses the latent image is formed on the surface of the overlay marker (column 4, lines 46-47). The image structure (18) comprising a light reflecting surface. Phillips discloses the overlay marker comprises ink or toner receptive material (column 6, lines 50-52) as in claim 43. It is inherent that the hidden message (bear information) of Phillips would be unreadable on a document copy. The claiming of a new use, new function or unknown property which is inherently present in the prior art does not necessarily make the claim patentable. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1254, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977). Mere recitation of newly-discovered function or property, inherently possessed by things in prior art, does not cause claim drawn to those things to distinguish over prior art.

In claims 38-39, 41-42, 44-45 and 47-48, the phrase, "for allowing the bearer information to be readable on an original document" constitutes a 'capable of' limitation and that such a recitation that an element is 'capable of' performing a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform.

Claim Rejections – 35 USC § 103(a)

4. Claims 6, 14, 25, 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Phillips (U.S. 5,772,248).

Phillips is cited for the same reasons previously discussed, which are incorporated herein and is relied upon for instant claims 1 and 20. Phillips does not disclose the reflective layer being disposed over the entirety of the substrate, the reflective elements being curvilinear or the font size of the reflective elements. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to extend the reflective layer to cover the entire substrate and to change the shape of the reflective elements to curvilinear, since such a change in size and/or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1995).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments regarding the rejection made under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Phillips (U.S. 5,772,248) has been considered but is unpersuasive. Applicant argues Phillips does not disclose the raised markings would interfere with overprinted bearer information on a copy of a document, rendering the bearer information unreadable on a copy. Phillips discloses a copy resistant security sheet (column 1, lines 8-12 and column 2, lines 34-39) comprising a substrate (11) made of paper, an overlay marker (reflective layer) (10) made of metallic reflective material and a diffusing projected marking (diffusing layer) (16) (column 3, lines 10-36 and column 4, lines 30-35 and Figures 1 and 5). The image relief structure is a series of alpha-numeric characters to provide informational content to the contrasting visible image, where the latent image is hidden when an observer views the sheet at a certain angle (column 2, lines 50-53 and column 3, lines 45-50). Examiner maintains it is inherent that the hidden message (bearer information) of Phillips would be unreadable on a document copy. The claiming of a new use, new function or unknown property which is inherently present in the prior art does not necessarily make the claim patentable. In re Best, 562 F.2d 1252, 1254, 195 USPQ 430, 433 (CCPA 1977). Mere recitation of newly-discovered function or property, inherently possessed by things in prior art, does not cause claim drawn to those things to distinguish over prior art. Applicant further argues the hidden message is not overprinted on the overlay marker. Phillips discloses the latent image is formed on the surface of the overlay marker (column 4, lines 46-47) where the overlay marker comprises ink or toner receptive material (column 6, lines 50-52) as in claim 43.

Art Unit: 1794

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
